

AJM PHOTOGRAPHY

wedding • event • portrait • commercial

Welcome to AJM Photography. I am a specialist wedding and portrait photographer based in Lancashire providing coverage throughout the whole of the Northwest of England and beyond.

For couples getting married your photographs are possibly the most important tangible things you will keep from the big day and are a record to be treasured.

As a result I appreciate those small details that can be so easily forgotten or missed but which are so important to you and which make your day different from anyone else's.

Photographs are also very precious for recording moments of other times in our lives. For couples or families who just want to capture time together, the arrival of a baby, children growing up or family celebrations.

As part of my portfolio I also offer commercial photography. Any images taken for you can be used for all your marketing needs from website illustration to promotional images for brochures, leaflets and advertisements.

For an informal chat to discuss your requirement, call me on: 07779 793533
